FINAL SUNDAY OF LENT – Tone 4. St. Mary of Egypt
Galatians 3:23-29 (saint) | Hebrews 9:11-14
Luke 7:36-50 (saint) | Mark 10:32-45

Bless you in this final Week of Great Lent, leading to the Holy Week of our Lord's saving Passion. If you have struggled to pray or keep the fast, make a good beginning and offering this final week – God weighs our disposition, not necessarily our success. Prepare your hearts for the joy of our Lord's Pascha!

We will be continuing to collect canned/non-perishable food items for the Mon Valley Youth and Teen Association's food bank. Donations in the Charity box will also go to local ministry. May God bless your almsgiving in secret!

Both the Zoom book club and the Sunday morning book club will continue through to next Sunday, then go on brief hiatus as we approach Pascha.

Reminder: as Orthodox Christians in good standing, and because "unless you eat and drink" of Holy Communion, "you have no life in you," faithful parishioners are expected to give confession during the major fasts and to receive Holy Communion. If you have not already done so in some time, prepare yourself for confession and to receive communion. A good rule is this – aim to commune frequently, and confess regularly (there is no exact one-to-one "rule"). Without regular communion we are withholding ourselves from the grace of Christ's lifegiving body, needed in our spiritual struggle. At the same time, we should approach communion mindfully and with prayerful preparation, fasting, and a clear conscience. Some available times for confessions will be listed below (Father would prefer not to hear confessions between Holy Wednesday and Pascha, as the schedule is very full).

Today's Gospel...

The sinful woman, upon hearing that the Savior was in the house of Simon, came there with an alabaster box of ointment. Moving toward the feet of the Lord from behind Him, she started to cry and washed His feet with her tears, then wiped them with her hair, kissed them and anointed them with myrrh (cf. Luke 7:36-39). She did not say anything; she only acted, and through her actions revealed a most tender love for the Lord. Because of this it was spoken of her: "Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much" (Luke 7:47). Oh, when will we talk less and act more, and through our actions witness our love for the Lord? You might say, "If He were here, I would be ready now to do all for Him." But He is here, invisible in His person, but visible in all Christians, most of all in the needy. Anoint the invisible Lord with loving prayer of the heart and mind; and, for His sake, do everything possible for the needy, and you will be doing this for God.

- St. Theophan the Recluse -

St. Mary of Egypt: Repentance vs. Remorse

The pain of repentance has no connection to the pain produced by remorse. Remorse (guilt) is a pathological state in which the sinner remains trapped in his sin, keeping his eyes fixed on it and remaining passive in the face of it. In remorse, man continues the sin under a different guise and becomes sick in another way. He remains focused on the fault committed and on his state, not succeeding in detaching himself from them. In repentance, on the contrary, the sinner focuses on God. He does not feel pain on account of the sin itself—he is not sad because of his wounded ego. If he is suffering, it is because he has separated himself from God by his sin and because his sinful state keeps him distanced from Him. Repentance, therefore, excludes every pathological feeling of guilt that might distress or paralyze a person. This is why, "Repentance is the cheerful deprivation of every bodily comfort," as St. John Climacus writes because one rejoices to struggle for Christ, to give up sinful pleasures, comforts, and even one's life for Christ.

- Jean-Claude Larchet -

"The Great Fast is our desert of purification, which can lead us out of sin into holiness. Just as the time St. Mary spent in the desert led her out of her sinful way of life to a life purified by God's indwelling in her, so too can our time spent in the Great Fast bring us to a purified life."
